HISTORY

Colonel James W. Caughron
assumed Command of the 4th
Transportation Command and
Fort Story on 27 August 1962

Colonel Richard C. Biggs
Commanding Officer
4th Transportation Command (TmL C)
Assumed Command 30 July 1963

FORT STORY is a major subordinate command of the U. S. Army Transportation Center, Fort Eustis, Virginia. It is situated at the tip of Cape Henry, 18 miles east of Norfolk and six miles north of Virginia Beach. It covers 1394 acres, an area fronting on three quarters miles of beach that make it ideal for amphibious training.

The post was named for Maj Gen John Patten Story, Chief of the Artillery School at Fort Monroe for many years, who contributed to many developments in range-finding equipment and in the science of gunnery.

The reservation was acquired by the U. S. Government in 1914 and was established in February 1917 as a Coast Artillery fort guarding the southern entrance to Chesapeake Bay.

For this mission Fort Story boasted the heaviest armament of any Atlantic coast fort. Its 16" rifles and howitzers, plus three batteries of 6" guns all have been dismantled today. However, because of its strategic location it continues to maintain its status as an important link in our anti-aircraft defense network.

Toward the close of World War II, Fort Story was the site of a convalescent Hospital opened in September 1944. It accommodated over 13,000 patients up to the time of its closing in March 1946.

The same year marked the arrival of the first DUKW company on the post, although Fort Story did not officially become a Transportation Corps installation until July 1948. Since that time, it has trained amphibious truck units, Terminal Service Battalions, Terminal Service Companies and BARC Platoons for service in Europe, the Far East and the Arctic. It is presently the home of the 10th Transportation Battalion (Terminal).

The giant 98-ton BARC, developed by the Transportation Research Command, underwent extensive land and water tests at Fort Story with its four experimental models before joining the small but sturdy DUKW as a land and water carrier proven in performance. During June, July, August and September 1958, the BARC again proved itself in a resupply operation at Thule, Greenland.

In addition to a Nike-Hercules Missile Battery, non-TC activities at Fort Story include the U. S. Navy's Harbor Entrance Control Base; a U. S. Government Weather Station, and the lofty Cape Henry Light which is operated by the U. S. Treasury Department.

Historically the reservation is of rich interest, for the rolling, grassy dune, close by the present Post Exchange cafeteria marks the site of the first landing of the Jamestown settlers on 26 April 1607, after a storm-tossed voyage from England in three small ships. The CAPE HENRY MEMORIAL, a handsome granite cross erected by the Daughters of the American Colonists in 1935, is one of Fort Story's landmarks.

A second is the CAPE HENRY LIGHT, dating from 1791, the first lighthouse to be built by the U. S. Government. Now owned by the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, it took a severe beating from Hurricane "Barbara" in August 1953 and lost its copper canopy which has since been replaced.

Across from the older beacon, the CAPE HENRY LIGHT, dating from 1881, is an all-iron structure 165 feet high from its base to the focal plane of its lens. It has a beacon visible at 19 miles and a foghorn audible at 15 miles—and in thick weather, more than audible at Fort Story.

Each spring thousands of visitors from the Tidewater area flock to the post for two ceremonies held at the Cape Henry Cross where notable public figures pay tribute to the fortitude of the first permanent English settlers. From these and other events the year-round, it will be seen that Fort Story plays a vital role in the cultural life of the civilian community. It also is an important factor in the economic health of Virginia Beach, best known as a summer resort. Fort Story soldiers are popular with local residents because they observe the traditions of courtesy and good neighborliness that have marked relations between the city and the post for decades.

The two communities, indeed, share Atlantic Avenue as their main thoroughfare. When you exit by the East Gate, you are in North Virginia Beach, an attractive residential development, and the avenue runs straight as an airstrip down to the imposing Cavalier Club, Virginia Beach's most famous hotel and favored site of conventions the year round.

Incidentally, many Fort Story Officers and enlisted men find comfortable homes for their families at the "Beach" where rents are reasonable except in the summer months.

Its close proximity to Virginia Beach adds much to the attractiveness of Fort Story as a duty station. The city has many good hotels and restaurants, entertainment places and houses of worship. Golf enthusiasts will enjoy the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club course and the Princess Anne Country Club links. Night clubs, during the vacation season, draw the big-name bands and—also in summer—the Navy Officers Beach Club on Atlantic Avenue welcomes Fort Story soldiers.

At the opposite end of the post, exit by the West Gate will put you on Route 60 which passes Lynnhaven Inlet where salt water fishing and charter boat service draw summer crowds. Channel bass, croaker, round-head and flounder are typical of the Chesapeake Bay catch. Ocean View, situated on the Bay 18 miles from the post, also has charter boat service and rowboat rentals.

For the motorist, the Cape Henry area is a panorama of scenic pleasures. Many beautiful homes and estates are scattered through the Back Bay area and motorists are assured of an interesting and worthwhile trip.
